

---

Made from sweet Western Colorado corn, pure Rocky Mountain water and a healthy dose of old-fashioned tomfoolery. We mill and cook the corn by hand, air ferment it and distill the mash just once in our Christian Carl brandy pot with a column still. From there it rests in barrels of American oak for two to five years. Each batch yields just three barrels, which we think is fair to call small.

---

